The University of Jaén is proud to be the top university in Andalusia and the sixth best university in Spain in terms of contribution to regional development on the 2016 Ranking from the CYD Foundation. This privileged status is no coincidence; it is the product of our university's growing involvement with local companies and institutions, fomenting collaboration with existing companies and giving rise to new ventures. In this section, you'll find all the information you need to set up or join one of these partnerships.
