Current students

There’s no doubt about it – the University of Jaén is one of the best places to study. Not only does it offer top-quality teaching, it’s also a modern, friendly university that provides you with a wide range of tools for your academic and personal development.

You’ll get complete peace of mind with our Emergency Assistance Fund for students in financial hardship. There’s also help and support for students with special educational needs, including a wide range of human and technical resources to help them achieve success.

The University also offers work placements, careers guidance and entrepreneurship support to improve our graduates’ employability.
