UNIVERSITY OF JAÉN RECTOR

Welcome to the University of Jaén website. Via this channel, we aim to inform the staff and student community, as well as the general public, of everything that goes on at our university. To ensure accountability and transparency in our management processes as a public university, we offer an ample range of information about our teaching, research and other services so that you can find out more about what we do. This is a young, dynamic university staffed by an excellent team, which has made great progress in a variety of fields since it was founded in 1993. One of our most important goals is to transfer knowledge so that it can be used to shape the economy and society and improve citizens' lives as much as possible. Indeed, we've already reached significant milestones in the areas of renewable energy, olive oil production and sales, and cultural heritage promotion. Our university is a national leader in accessibility and we've tried to reflect that in our website. Suggestions for improving the website's content and navigation are always welcome and we'll do our best to make any changes needed to ensure that we offer a quality public service. I hope your 'virtual visit' to our university is a pleasant one and that it encourages you to support and join in with our activities. Please make yourself at home.

Thank you for visiting.
