Training

This section brings together the main training resources available for academic and research staff at the University of Jaén, aimed at supporting professional development and skills acquisition across all stages of the research career (R1–R4). In addition, the University offers official Master's programmes that may be of interest for early-stage research careers.

Training

Doctoral Training (R1)

portada

Training programmes and activities for early-stage researchers, coordinated by the University of Jaén Doctoral School

Training and Skills (R1-R4)

portada

Training activities aimed at developing transversal, teaching and research skills across the research career