

Demetriou Demetriou, Eroulla

Área

Early modern English literature; Anglo-Spanish relations; Anglo-Greek/Cypriot relations; English travel writing in the Mediterranean; Comparative literature; English poetry; English Hispanism and English Hellenism; The impact of the Black Legend

Categoría

Associate Professor

Datos de contacto

Correo electrónico

eroulla [arroba] ujaen [punto] es

Sitio web

<https://orcid.org/0000-0003-1287-9457>

Teléfono

(+34) 953 213 551

Dirección

Campus Las Lagunillas

Building: D2-215

About: Dr. Eroulla Demetriou specialises in Renaissance literature, especially propagandistic literature of the early 17th century on the topic of the Black Legend of Spain and the Spanish Match. She has also carried out research on the Other in Renaissance literature, travel literature through Cyprus in the 19th and 20th centuries, and the teaching of English through literature. Dr. Demetriou is currently in the I+D+D group led by Dr. Eugenio Olivares Merino, working on Thomas More in literature and is concentrating on More and Jesuit plays and here, as you will see, More in History books for students in the 19th century.