

Conference date: November 12–13, 2026

Venue: Georgian National University SEU (9 Tsinandali Street, Tbilisi, Georgia)

Georgian National University SEU is pleased to invite your university's academic community to participate in the International Scientific-Practical Multidisciplinary Conference

“A New Paradigm for Mountain Studies: Challenges and Opportunities.”

The conference aims to provide an in-depth analysis of the challenges and prospects related to the sustainable development of mountain regions. The call is open to academic staff of higher education institutions, researchers, doctoral students, and practitioners in relevant fields from both national and international institutions, as well as interested representatives of the public and non-governmental sectors.

The conference is multidisciplinary, and scientific topics may address current issues concerning mountain regions from the perspectives of ecology, economics, tourism, rural development, environmental protection, geography, law, psychology, education, technology, health, and other relevant disciplines.

Important Dates:

- Registration and abstract submission deadline: October 20, 2026, via the registration link.
- Deadline for submission of the final conference paper: November 5, 2026, by email at conference@seu.edu.ge.

The conference materials will be published in a special issue of the journal “SEU and Science”.

For further information, please visit the conference webpage

Looking forward to seeing you in Georgia!