

HUM-271 Multidisciplinary Approach to English

Coordinator: Jesús López-Peláez Casellas (jlopez [arroba] ujaen [punto] es)

The HUM 271 Research Group encompasses a set of specialists in the field of Anglistics belonging mostly to Jaén University, but also including several universities from various countries. Since 1995, this Group has been conducting basic and applied philological research activities as well as research transfer and, occasionally, providing services in all fields associated with the multidisciplinary knowledge of the English language and of English-language culture.

Research lines

- Analysis and study of English-language literatures
- Critical editing and philological study of texts
- Didactics of English language and literature
- Specialized (and sworn) translation, including literary, audiovisual (subtitles and dubbing), economic, legal and scientific translation

Related services and products

1. Specialized direct and reverse translation: scientific, business, literary, etc.
2. Sworn English-Spanish translation
3. Audiovisual translation \(both subtitles and dubbing\) for making promotional videos in English
4. Specialization courses in Multidisciplinary Approach to English

Spanish website: <https://bit.ly/2LugNIP>