Overview:

The UNIVERSITY OF JAÉN (Spain) is placed in the 51-75 position according to the Shanghai Global Ranking of Academic Subjects 2017 in Computer Science & Engineering. For this purpose, the UJA Advanced Studies Center in Information and Communication Technologies is strongly committed to enhance the potential of its over 40 members and to implement H2020 ICT strategy.

In order to foster the joint participation of researchers, SMEs, public administrations, universities and institutes, UJA will be hosting a H2020 Project Networking Event on ICT in Brussels on 21st June 2018 with the participation of UJA experts in computing, electronics, communication technology, robotics and ICT-based psychology.

This Event will count on the advice of a EC representative and will focus on H2020 forthcoming topics with the aim of building strong project consortia willing to submit a R&I project proposal in the near future. Academic and non-academic institutions from outside Spain that are interested in attending this Event can register online until 19th June 2018.
